

ABSTRACT

A tracking array for attachment to an object in a surgical environment includes tracking elements detectable by a surgical navigation system to permit tracking of the object.